

Floppportunity©

Think of something you have always wanted to do but you allowed your fear of failure to stop you.

Think of a tiny first step that would move you in that direction. Resist the urge to evaluate how little effect this may have on the outcome.

In your mind begin calling any unwanted outcome a 'floppportunity'.

Then do it. This is critical. You have to complete the loop by taking action.

